

A strait-jacket would be an admirable suit for the crown of Cox's court.

The new Guitau is pressed by searching cross-examination the sicker he gets.

According to the new catalogue of the University of Wisconsin, just received, there are 400 students in that institution, including the members of the law class.

Those who have been trying to get President Arthur committed on the Speakership question have failed. He wisely proposes to let the House settle that matter.

They want to follow the Chinese rule in Kansas, hang for embezzling bank money, and there is a chance that Danford will break his neck while "falling down the court house steps."

Although Peter Cooper is 92 he can still write letters, walk about, talk on the tariff, discuss free banking, and in a measure act as if he were still in the prime of vigorous manhood.

The Milwaukee Sentinel like to jump now and then on the State board of control. Let it jump. It won't hurt the board in the least, and it seems to give that paper some little comfort.

When Judge Porter put Guitau through the ordeal of a cross examination, the prisoner was brought to his senses very quickly. He became sane enough to understand that Judge Porter was getting him in uncomfortable quarters.

The case of Rev. Dr. W. H. Thomas, which was appealed to the Methodist Judicial Conference, at Terre Haute, has been rejected by a vote of 15 to 4, which is said to be final, as he can not appeal to the General Conference, because there was no ruling in any exceptions in the appellate court.

That great man and splendid actor, whose name this country delights to honor, Joseph Jefferson, says he made his first appearance on the stage in 1820, and then adds, "I have played Tip Van Winkle about twenty-five hundred times, for which I may be forgiven in another and a better world, where there will be no matinees and no managers."

Mr. N. S. Murphy, of the Milwaukee Sentinel, receives the compliments of the Chicago Journal in this fashion:

In the case of the alleged cruelty at the Reform School, public judgment is suspended, because of the general irresponsible character of the newspaper in which the stories originated.

Mr. A. M. Thomson seems to be posted on Wisconsin matters.

There have been rumors for some time that there would be a consolidation of the Milwaukee Republican and the Sentinel, and the Evening Wisconsin says that while Mr. Roberts, who has just left the Sentinel, would not say, in an interview, whether the rumor had any foundation, his manner, however, plainly indicated that he expects something of this sort, while others claiming to be posted say it is an event sure to come within a few months.

The total vote on Governor in this State was 170,155, and is divided as follows:

Rank, Rep.	91,733
Frank, Dem.	62,900
Kane, Rep.	12,200
Alis, G. E.	6,074
Rank's plurality	11,600

This is 25,309 less than the aggregate vote on Governor in 1879, and 76,477 less than the Presidential vote in 1880. The highest plurality received was by Spooner for Insurance Commissioner, which was a little over 17,000. Field's was 11,207, Timme's, 12,827, McFetridge's, 13,079.

The amount Wisconsin is asked to contribute to the Garfield monument fund is $10,000, and Milwaukee has been asked to subscribe one-fourth of this amount. It is the intention of the Garfield Monument Association to raise $250,000, and therewith to erect a monument over the President's grave in the Lake View cemetery at Cleveland, something like that which grandly marks the resting place of Lincoln at Springfield. Of this amount—$250,000—the city of Cleveland will subscribe $50,000, the State of Ohio, outside of Cleveland, $50,000, so that for the rest of the United States there will be but $150,000. It is to be hoped that the State of Wisconsin, which had the honor of nominating James A. Garfield for President, will respond promptly with the subscription of $10,000, and that Rock county will not be slow in doing its share of the noble work.

Pensions and Mortgages will be two weighty questions for Congress to settle, or talk about, this session. Pensions are a good thing for the wounded soldier, and the widows and orphans of deceased soldiers; but it has been found out that there are tens of thousands now on the pension rolls who are not entitled to pensions, and hence the tremendous flow of money from the treasury on account of pensions. It has been estimated that there will be nearly 200,000 claims granted by the time the law expires at the close of 1882. When one calmly considers this question, he will find much to create suspicion that the government is being swindled by a great many thousands of persons in this country. When it is said on good authority that there are nearly 200,000 persons in this country who are able to make out a claim against the government for pensions on account of wounds received or diseases contracted in a war which ended more than sixteen years ago, there is occasion for suspecting that there are too many fraudulent claims. On an average each one of these will get $1,500, and the aggregate amount can only be expressed by the dazzling figures—$235,000,000. What Congress should do is to get down to the bottom facts in this pension business, to do justice to the disabled soldiers, to properly care for the widows and orphans of dead soldiers, but to wipe out all fraudulent claims from the list. The government can afford to pay its honest obligations to the wounded soldiers and to the widows and children of those who fell in the great conflict, but it can not afford to pay dishonest claims. Those who have a right to the Nation's bounty should receive it, but those who have dead-beats should no longer receive support at the hands of the government. A little investigation on the part of Congress will readily reduce the pension allowance some five or six millions a year.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

LYRICS OF HOME-LAND. By Eugene J. Hall. Chicago: N. C. Griggs & Co. 5mo, full gilt, $1.00.

This is a rare gift book for the holidays, and one of the handsomest volumes ever printed in Chicago. We can do no better than quote some of the many substantial recommendations which have been given this valuable work.

"His poetry has a natural ring to it. It comes home to the hearts of the people."—Chicago Tribune.

"I think Mr. Hall is a singer who should be heard as well as read. I think if he once gets a wide hearing, he will win a wide liking."—Chicago Tribune.

"Grace, smoothness, elegance, with quiet good humor, sharp bits, generous sentiments and freshness to nature. No western poet has more rapidly written himself into favor with a critical public."—Chicago Tribune.

"It is rarely that such elegance of typography, of illustration, of gilding and binding comes to our table. We congratulate the publishers on the merits of the poetry and the poet on the finest setting that has ever been attempted in the west, and that cannot be excelled in the east."—The Interior, Chicago.

"A most appropriate Christmas present, or a handsome ornament for the parlor table. Will give its author a recognized place among American poets. There is a home-like sweetness and hominess in these ballads that makes the reading a rare enjoyment. Since the publication of Carlisle's 'Farm Ballads' we have seen nothing so full of plain, familiar, rustic home life."—Chicago Tribune.

For sale by James Sutherland & Sons, SPARKS FROM GEOLOGISTS' HAMMER. By Alexander Winchell, LL. D., Professor of Geology and Paleontology in the University of Michigan. Author of "The Geologist's Hammer," "Sketches of Creation," etc. Illustrated. 12 mo., cloth $2. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co.

There are few scientists of so high rank as Prof. Winchell, who are so capable of presenting facts and theories in a manner charming and popular, without sacrificing any scientific accuracy. This progressive series of papers is adapted to the general reader, the style is attractive, the subject matter well chosen and entertainingly treated, and at the same time the last results of the fullest scientific investigations are given. There is a great variety in this little volume, it touching upon the aesthetic in the papers on Mount Blanc; the chronological in treating of the old age of continents and kindred topics; the climatic, in the papers on geological seasons; two historical papers, one of which, concerning the salt enterprise in Michigan, is particularly instructive and entertaining, and the volume closes with four philosophical papers, in which some especially valuable thoughts are presented concerning evolution. The illustrations form a charming feature of the book, and when scientific truth is so freshly and pleasingly presented, it cannot but be grasped eagerly by the general reader.

For sale by James Sutherland & Sons, "THE DOCTORS AND MY WIFE" has been completed. Tried and tested by a Southern, and she has better health than ever. G. H. Hubbard, Hampden, Ohio.

A fortune may be spent in using infotential medicines, when by applying Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil, a speedy and economical cure can be effected. In cases of rheumatism, lame back, bodily ailments, or pains of every description, it affords instant relief.

THE THIRD DAY.

Of the Testimony of the Assassin—Cross-Examination.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—A heavy rain to-day reduced the number of people who daily hang around the Court house attempting to gain admission, but did not diminish the number within the number within the room, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. Among the spectators were a large number of newspaper men and lawyers from abroad, who are here in attendance upon the opening of Congress. They evinced great interest in the trial and expressed surprise at the lack of interest shown by Washington people, and the numerous points which the newspaper men of the city failed to appreciate and record.

The prisoner appeared, looking ill and worn, and announced himself as by no means in the best of health. Indeed, it was thought that as soon as the cross-examination began he would break down, and announce himself as unable to leave his cell, and it is not at all unlikely that he may do this yet. The cross-examination to-day was begun as soon as the prisoner was seated in the box. It was marked by persistent, but rather wandering inquiry on one side, and by wild vindictive and impudent replies upon the other. Judge Porter attempted to lead the prisoner from his theory of inspiration, but while the latter was often hurried, and on the wrong track, he kept in sight of his chosen character of "agent of the Deity," and the prosecution made few points against him. The prisoner was impudent, and hurled denunciations at the leading counsel for the prosecution without stint. His abuse was moderate and short-lived, but it was, at the same time, disgusting and out of place. The prisoner caused much amusement several times by very closely imitating Judge Porter's manner and voice. The distinguished practitioner has a sort of crushed-tragedian tone and manner, which is supposed to make a strong impression upon the witness, and he used this upon Guitau without stint. Several times, when the prisoner became excited, he leaped out of the box and pointed his finger solemnly at Judge Porter and gave an impudent reply in the ghost of Hamlet's father sort of voice used by Porter. The result in considerable levity on the part of the spectators.

DANFORD.

The Kansas Bank Swindler in Dangerous Mood.

HUNSWELL, Kan., Dec. 1.—The committee appointed to go to Wichita and investigate the collaterals abstracted from the Caldwell bank by Smith, the cashier, when he fled, returned today last night and reported to-day. They think there will not be sufficient to pay over 25 cents on the dollar, but it will amount to over this, for the disposition is not to allow a claim of some $20,000 put in by Wilson, of Kansas City, for some New York indebtedness. They find but little other property and that Danford's financial situation has been very desperate for some time past. More crookedness is developing every hour. Tanner and Demman, who were found hidden under the hay in a lively stable at Wellington, were badly frightened, and "squealed." When a full report is made it will astound the people. Smith, it is reported, had bought tickets for Texas, and it is believed the whole party were booked for flight in that direction. It is publicly claimed on the streets of Caldwell, this evening that Danford will be taken out to-night and strung up, but not killed, but there is no telling to what extent an excited mob will go. The trains are watched closely, and any attempt to send militia to rescue the prisoners will result in their instant death. There is much diversity of opinion as to whether Danford is able to pay or not. It looks now very much as if this was his last night on earth.

A MASKED MOB.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 1.—Early this morning between seventy-five and one hundred masked men took from Oxford jail, John Brodie and Shallock Hester (colored) charged with the murder of J. M. Lynch and H. L. Lynch, and hanged them in a small grove near the spot where the murder was committed. The jailer was taken from his home and forced to open the jail, and the guard were disarmed and shut up in the guard house. Hundreds of people visited the grove. The victims are reported to have made a full confession. [Everything was conducted with the utmost secrecy.] The bodies were not found until 3 this morning.

MAN'S DEPRAVITY.

Bold Attempt of a Lazy Lout to Rob an Honest Man.

OSHTOSH, Dec. 1.—Last night an attempt was made to murder and rob C. Casper, station agent at Pickett's, twelve miles from this city, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. Jasper, hearing a noise on the platform a few minutes before closing, stepped to the door to ascertain the cause, and was dealt a blow on the temple, which stunned him for the moment. Recovering from the blow, he endeavored to grasp his assailant, but the fellow eluded him and made for the woods. An alarm was given at a store in the village, and a crowd of men started in pursuit, and succeeded in capturing the man by aid of the tracks made in the snow. The prisoner proved to be one Paul Barthol, who had been in the village during the summer, but whose home is at Pickett's. He stated that it was his plan to kill and rob Jasper, who usually has large sums of money in his possession for the payment of wheat checks. Barthol had an examination before a justice this morning, pleaded guilty, and was brought to this city today for trial in the Circuit Court. Jasper's injuries are serious.

FAVORABLE TO HISCOCK.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Congressman Ward, of Philadelphia, says: "The Pennsylvania delegation has not formally agreed upon a candidate, but the inclination is for Hiscock, and he will probably get our vote. Prior to the adjournment of the last Congress most of our delegation promised their support to Hiscock and we will stick to him. The new members from Pennsylvania, who at eleven months ago and generally agreed to go for Hiscock, and so far as I learn most of them do so for any reason to change. Some of our delegation will not support MacPherson for clerk. The Philadelphia members are against him and I don't see how he can get the nomination."

PORK.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—The Cincinnati Price Current to-day gives the returns from 88 per cent of the points where pork-packing was done last winter for the month of November, showing a total for this season of 1,708,000, against 2,215,000 last year during the same time. From this fact Price Current estimates the total packing in the west for November as 500,000 short of last year, and that the end of the season will show a falling off of 1,000,000 from last year.

Humboldt Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctored, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months' use of the Bitters my wife was cured, and she has remained so for eighteen months. I like such humbugging.—H. T. St. Paul.

One who returns to Niagara after a long absence notes the marked changes taking place in the face of the cataract. My first visit here was made in the year 1844, thirty-seven years ago. Then the broad expanse of Table Rock was the platform on which successive thousands stood. Many crept softly to the verge and looked into the abyss. Others more cautiously lay on their faces and gazed at the crystal current as it broke into jewels and fell in a stream from the awful height. Now the broad platform has fallen, and the work of undermining is going on. In the forty years since my first visit the present standpoint will be in the depths below. But more remarkable is the change in the shape of the Horseshoe Fall itself. Then it was a perfect segment of a circle, so nearly like the heel of a horseshoe as to suggest the fitting name. Now the vast masses of rock have been disintegrated in the middle of the curve, making a sharp and wide diversion of the current, so that the torrent pours into a midway gulf, from which the mist rises constantly. This does not diminish, but perhaps enhances, the interest of the cataract. It breaks the circle, destroys the perfect symmetry of the curve. It proves that the recession of the fall is going on with far greater force than Mr. Lyell and his brethren in geology calculated when they supposed they had estimated the age by the progress backward of the verge of Niagara. If in half the lifetime of a modern man such changes have occurred, what may not have been wrought by these mighty forces of nature in 5,000 years?—New York Observer.

MEMORIAL TABLET.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—A marble tablet has been placed in the ladies' waiting-room of the Baltimore and Potomac depot to mark the spot where President Garfield was shot. The tablet is American statutory marble, and consists of a tall resting upon two corbels, outside of which are two pillars representing an ax and a lance. Two draped flags form a canopy over the inscription in gold letters: "James Abram Garfield, President of the United States, July 2, 1881." The whole is surrounded by an eagle with outstretched wings, holding in its talons a bundle of arrows and laurel leaves.

The Japanese Pipe-Tinker.

The pipe-mender does not remain any length of time in one place, but moves from street to street, carrying his tools in a long narrow box that serves him for a bench. He takes his stand in some convenient nook apart from the crowd and utters a series of howls, which persons, profoundly versed in Japanese translate as follows: "Old pipes made new again." His patrons, who are of the poorest class, bring him dilapidated specimens of the tiny-bowled smoking instruments, and haggle about the price; he asks for his work.

After carefully examining a worn pipe, the bamboo stem of which requires renewing, he will say to the owner: "My charge for repairing this old stick with an elegant new one is only five rin."

"Five rin!" screams the owner. "Do you think I am made of money? I can go into the country and cut all the pipe-stems I want. I do not intend you shall make your day's rice out of me. The old tub will last yet awhile."

"Who speaks thus an exclamation of disgust and responds satirically: "I suppose you expect me to mend your pipes for nothing."

"I do not steal my bamboo, like some people."

This retort which is highly relished by the crowd, turns the laugh against the owner of the pipe, who laughingly replies: "Go on with your work! I will find you in food for the next week or two."

The pipe-mender takes a tiny hammer and removes the bowl and mouthpiece of the pipe, then, selecting a bamboo, proceeds to fit it, carefully saving the rejected stick and the fragments that he saves from the new one to help mend his rice pot at night. It is at infinite pains to make the joints air-tight, and as he works, delivers a comic lecture to the admiring crowd collected about him.

"See the wisdom that animates the owner of this pipe. Some men would have thrown aside and disposed of it to a second-hand dealer, closing one eye and looking down the stem to ascertain if it were straight! For the pitiful sum of five rin I have renewed the beauty of this useful instrument [taking out a piece of soft paper and a little powder, and polishing the bowl and mouthpiece.] The economical gentleman has a soul full of wisdom, still one can be too saving. For instance, if you have an old pipe and the artist who repairs it demands five rin for his labor, it is madness to offer him four, because he will only give you an inferior stem, that will crack and will not last a day." Then, grimacing to the spectators and politely bowing and handing the pipe to his customer, he adds: "I ought to charge you for this excellent piece of workmanship. However, I always keep my agreement, so will be contented with what you promised. Five rin, if you please."—San Francisco Chronicle.

MISCELLANEOUS.

First Friday of the last month.

—The Merry club occupy Cannon's hall this evening.

—Uncle Tom's Cabin as a matinee tomorrow should not be forgotten.

—Rock River Encampment No. 3, I. O. O. F., will in the second degree to-night.

—We hope the weather will treat us mildly until those steam pipes are put in to the Opera house.

—Janesville is supplied this year with unusually brilliant showings of holiday goods and novelties.

—Dr. Burrus had quite a large audience at his lecture last evening, and gives another free one to-night.

—The Sargent post of the Grand Army of the Republic, meets to-night in its rooms in Bennett's block.

—Good girls for housework seem to be in demand in this city, by the best families, and by the most sensible young men.

—The roads softened up just enough to make travel by wheels very tedious and hard. As a consequence the country trade has fallen off for a few days past.

—All contributors to the Christmas Market who have not handed in their articles, will please do so this week. They can be left at Miss Minnie Jones'.

—Besides the display of goods at the "Christmas Market" next week, there will be each evening a first class entertainment, there being a different programme provided each evening.

—Miss Maggie O'Connell, who tried to commit suicide in jail here, and who has been confined in the asylum at Madison, has now been taken to the Home of the Good Shepherd, in Milwaukee.

—The interments in Oak Hill cemetery last month show a remarkable absence of fatality among children, there being but two interments of persons under twenty years of age. The others averaged nearly seventy-one years.

—Next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the autograph quilt, containing over 500 names will be raffled off at the Christmas Market. The tickets are all held by persons whose names appear in their own handwriting upon the quilt.

—One of the large show windows of M. C. Smith & Son's clothing house merits special mention for the taste shown in arranging a brilliant display of silk handkerchiefs, fancy ties and hose, and other articles of gents' furnishing goods. It attracts general attention from those who pass along Milwaukee street.

—B. F. Schwartz, the amusement manager well known here, as well as at Oshkosh, where he lives, has gained a judgment against that city, in his suit to recover for license money paid by him under protest. He gained this victory by an informality in the proof of publication of ordinances. The city council have instructed the city attorney to appeal the case to the Supreme court. As Oshkosh taxes its entertainments about as Janesville does, the progress of the case will be watched with interest here.

—From advices received from the surrounding country, and from the interest manifested in this city, there is reason to believe that the Sunday school congress, to be held here next week, will call together a goodly number of people. Dr. Vincent is so well known as a Sunday school worker, that many are anxious to get by personal contact with him some of the secrets of success, and learn some of his methods, and still more will be interested in hearing his famous lecture on "That Boy." Dr. Gillett, who is also to participate, is a very able and enthusiastic man.

—Elaborate preparations are being made for the annual dance of Water Vioth Engine Company No. 2, to be given at Apollo hall, next Thursday evening, December 8. These annual balls have always proved highly enjoyable affairs, and everything possible is being done to make this the best of them all. Anderson's band has been engaged for the occasion, and every detail is being worked up well by the management, so that the dance will surely merit the hearty support which the company has the right to expect from the community for which it renders so valuable services with so little reward.

—The Oak Hill association has opened up a road through the land purchased of the McKee estate. The road has been newly turned and gravelled, and will be greatly appreciated by those going to the cemetery at times when the roads are bad. The old road is often in such condition, either on account of mud or snow, as to be almost impassable. This new road to the cemetery is excellent and will be kept so, and besides this advantage it is more convenient and shorter, as it makes the entrance to the cemetery on the river road, near that leading to the Catholic cemetery. The association has thus made a great improvement, and its managers merit thanks for this accommodation to the public.

—It is difficult to get physicians to serve actively as members of the Board of Health, under the present arrangement. There is some doubt as to their authority, and then, besides this, the Board, consisting as it does, of all the aldermen and two physicians, is so unwieldy a body as to prevent such prompt and unanimous action as is often required. It is generally conceded by those conversant with the subject, that in the revision of the charter it would be advisable to provide for the organization of a board of about three competent persons, to have a certain independent province, and clothed with due authority. Such a board is needed, and in case of an emergency could act very promptly, while in ordinary matters it would be no less an improvement over the present system.

OAK HILL CEMETERY.

The following are the interments in Oak Hill cemetery during the month of November:

November 1—Mrs. Albert Cane, Fremont, O., aged 80 years.
November 3—Mrs. Caroline Love, Janesville, aged 63 years.
November 4—Mrs. Mary L. Vostle, Janesville, aged 10 years.
November 6—Thomas H. Schlick, Janesville, aged 71 years.
November 8—Mrs. Louisa Peterson, Janesville, aged 81 years.
November 9—Thomas A. Sayles, Janesville, aged 63 years.
November 10—Orin Wilcox, Lima, aged 92 years.
November 11—James Ballou, Stevens Point, aged 68 years.
November 12—Nicholas Fellows, Janesville, aged 71 years.
November 22—Andrew Robinson, Janesville, aged 18 years.
November 23—Gordon Leonard, Janesville, aged 53 years.
November 24—George B. Stearns, Janesville, aged 75 years.
November 25—Gay Carter, Janesville, aged 65 years.

THE BEAUTY AND COLOR of the hair may be safely regained by using Parker's Hair Balsam, which is much admired for its perfume, cleanliness and dandruff eradicating properties.

PERSONAL.

—E. Bowen, the Brodhead banker, was in the city to-day.

—Herbert J. Lawrence feels more than ever that life is worth living. It is a boy.

—Col. W. B. Britton has gone to Chicago to-day to gather up some novelties for the holiday trade, of which Britton & Kimball always have a goodly share.

—Rev. William L. Bray, pastor of the Congregational church at Clinton, Iowa, is in the city, and has consented to supply the Congregational church here next Sunday, preaching both morning and evening.

—Miss Florence Rice, who is one of the students at the Normal school, at Englewood, near Chicago, is in the city again on a brief visit to her brother, Homer Rice, expecting to remain over Sunday. She is accompanied by her cousin, John Rice, of Vermont, who is making the West a visit.

Bradford, Pa.
Thos. Fitcham, Bradford, Pa., writes: "I enclose money for Spring Blossom, as I said I would if it cured me. My dyspepsia has vanished, with all its symptoms. Many thanks. I shall never leave it out of the house." Price 50 cents, trial size 10 cents.

TIES THAT DON'T BIND.

To-day in the Circuit Court, Judge Conger heard the evidence in sundry divorce cases, of which there are a dozen on the calendar. Among them was one in which the husband sought for judgment because his wife deserted him. The evidence showed that there was no quarrel and no cause of complaint which led her to leave him, only that he objected to her playing cards in the house, because she got so infuriated that she neglected the housework, and played on Sunday. How light a cause doth move the hearts that love, etc. She insisted that she would leave if she couldn't play cards. She hadn't soon anything of the world, and she was bound to go to room, or to the devil, or somewhere, and she did. She quietly packed her valise, and made Oshkoshville her first stopping place, and then went from point to point, seeing the world. This was in 1873, and now the husband seeks a legal separation.

Another case was one in which the wife is the complainant, and the cause of grievance was the failure to support. The evidence showed that they had boarded in a number of places, but had to move often because the husband couldn't or wouldn't pay the bills. He was always short of money, and she was short of comforts.

Decisions in these and other cases will be rendered hereafter.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, it is not a whisky drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

SENT UP FOR TWO YEARS.

This morning Judge Conger sentenced George F. McLeod, of Racine, who was convicted in this court of selling a forged note of $30. The sentence was two years' hard labor in the State prison, the first three days to be solitary. McLeod is from Racine, the case being brought here on a change of venue. The note purported to be signed by McLeod's father-in-law, and it was shown that McLeod knew it to be a forgery when he sold it to a third party.

AMUSEMENTS.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

To-morrow evening this famous and never-tiring play is to be again given at the Opera house, and will doubtless draw the usual crowd. The Boston Ideal company claims for its little Eva that she is the youngest and greatest child actress living. The trained donkey and the Siberian hounds will also attract and please. The Buffalo Courier says:

Uncle Tom's Cabin was played to a large audience at St. James' hall last evening, by the Boston Ideal Uncle Tom's company. The use of a part of the trade mark of another and entirely different organization is somewhat calculated to excite prejudice, not to say distrust; but the company gave a much better performance than we had been led to expect, and entertained their audience handsomely. Miss Blanche Slader, was excellent as Topsy, and Little Pansy did admirably as Eva. The remainder of the cast was very good.

"FASION'S SLAVE"

is to be given at the Opera house next Tuesday evening, December 6. This play is written by John A. Stevens, who is to take the leading part in its presentation here, and will be strongly supported. It is of the highly emotional order, and is purely an American play. An interesting story of a fair Southern girl and a chivalric lover forms the basis, and many interesting dramatic and comical situations are evolved. The Boston Post pronounces it "a strong entertainment," and the eastern press give extended notices of praise.

HUMPTY DUMPTY.

and a variety of novel features are to be introduced into the entertainment, to be given at the Opera house next Thursday evening December 8, by Anthony Ellis & Hathaway's combination.
